- In the parliamentary debates over the budget on 11-13 December 1946, considerable attention was given to foreign policy, especially in regard to German and Czechoslovak demands upon Poland for restitution of Kladsko, Ratibor, and Hlubcicko. The strongest speech was made by Dr. Ivo Ducháček, Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, who pointed out the dangers to Czechoslovakia arising from the economic reconstruction of Germany. Referring to Czechoslovak territorial demands, he declared that the situation had changed and claims cannot be made upon Poland if the Polish western frontier is generally recognized as definitive. The problem must be resolved bilaterally between Poland and Czechoslovakia and "if the interest of Slavic cooperation is involved, one can certainly expect the full support from the side of the USSR."
- 2. The immediate reaction of the foreign office was the feeling that Ducháček is dangerously toying with the Russians in the Kladsko matter. Therefore Dr. Kopeky, Minister of Information, issued orders that the Czechoslovak press delete from the speech the sentence quoted above. Lidova Demokracie, however, printed the text in full and further reaction is now being awaited.
